THE LATE "EDINBURGH" "PERKS"

Mr. Gladstone stated that the Government had acquiesced in the decision of the Duke of Edinburgh, now of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, to renounce the annuity of £15,000 per annum while retaining the marriage annuity of £10,000 per annum.

Mr. Labouchere objected and moved an adjournment to discuss the question. Permission to adjourn was refused by a majority of 118.

THE INTERNATIONAL GLOVE FIGHT.

We learn that a private telegram was received in Hongkong to-day stating that Charley Mitchell knocked Jim Corbett out in the ninth round. A few days ago it was rumoured, though on no certain authority, in town that Corbett had put the English champion to sleep in the 27th round.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

MONDAY and Tuesday being Bank and public holidays there will be no issue of the Hongkong Telegraph, and we take advantage of the occasion to wish our friends and enemies the congratulations of the Season, and to each and all of the varied tribe may the ensuing term be a prosperous one!

It is said that newspaper work pays so badly in Sydney just now that one Press Association has sent forth a branch in the form of a matrimonial agency.

The Charlton Tower, now the Arctik Maru, recently sold to the Mitsui Bussan Kaisha, arrived here to-day from Kaituma flying the Japanese flag.

THE Inspectors and sergeants of the Police Force, with their accustomed hospitality, have arranged to entertain their friends at a quadrille party to be held at the Central Station on Christmas night.

On Tuesday last the man Jansen, who is charged at the instance of the assessor Lawrence and Sagebomme with breach of the peace, was committed to take his trial before the Singapore Court of Two Magistrates.

THE Acre and Damascus Railway, which is being constructed by English enterprise, will be completed as far as the Jordan by next April, making 50 miles out of a total length of 150. A section of five miles from the coast has already been built.

At the Regular meeting of the Victoria Precinct held on the 22nd instant the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—Eminent Precinct—Sir Knight G. C. Anderson, Treasurer—Sir Knight J. W. Kinghorn. Guard—Sir Knight J. Maxwell.

THE ship St. David, which recently arrived in Yokohama from New York, had rather a rough time of it during the voyage. One tremendous wave washed three of the crew overboard, all of whom were drowned, as it was too rough to launch a boat.

In the British Consular Court at Shanghai on the 18th inst., Mr. Justice Hannan refused an application by Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co. to adduce fresh evidence in the suit of Major versus Jardine, Matheson & Co., the case having already been concluded and judgment reserved.

As will be seen in another part of this issue, death has taken away Inspector James Howell, of Shanghai, who joined the Customs Service in 1869. He was appointed Inspector of River Police in 1883, and had many friends. He was for a number of years Foreman of No. 2 Hong-kew Fire Engine Company.

SPECIAL services in connection with the new and greatly enlarged organ in St. Peter's Seamen's Church, at West Point, will be held on Monday morning and evening at 11 a.m. and 6.30 p.m. respectively. The Rev. E. H. Davies will preach at the morning and the Rev. A. Gurney Goldsmith at the evening service.

THE Duchess of Edinburgh is the happy possessor of the Russian and superstitious point of view of two genuine beaver stones, one of which was left to her Imperial father and the other by her aunt. The beaver stone is cut from a very rare animal and is regarded as a sure preserver of health and happiness.

THE American ship Yokohama, from Hakodate to San Francisco, with a cargo of sulphur, is reported by the Yokohama Mail to be ashore on Mussel Point, opposite Hakodate Head. The bottom is sandy, and being close to port, where assistance is available, the vessel will probably be rescued from her present position.

It is doubtful whether the shipbuilding industry of this colony was ever more active than at present. The Dock Company appears to have as much work on hand as ever, while Messrs. Fenwick & Co., and the Chinese shipbuilders of Yau-mai-lai and Hungnam have quite a number of small steamers on their stocks and several recently launched, lying off the Kwong Hong Loong and Hip Yee Loong wharves and boiler works at Wanchai almost ready to put to sea. Among the latter are three 75-ton steamers, which have been ordered by the Government, and intended for the West River trade, while a small little iron steam-launch, the Hung Wai, has just been launched, and will shortly be put to sea. An important addition to the Cantonese West River Steamship Company's fleet of low-boats.

This inquest on the body of the coolie killed by a crane accident at Quarry Bay a few days ago was commenced yesterday before Mr. Woodhouse, and was adjourned until Wednesday next.

THE Mission steam-launch Day Spring will call alongside vessels holding code pennant C, between 9 and 10.30 a.m., on Sunday, to convey men ashore to the 11 o'clock service, returning about 12.30 p.m.

ACCORDING to the latest available returns Russia has the largest population, 128,840,000; next comes Italy with 32,110,000; France with 32,827,000; the United States with 32,528,000 and Great Britain with 30,474,000.

THE China Mail last night had an item of a kind which is becoming far too common in that quarter, and for the sake of public decency we had intended to deal with it; but really it is quite unfit for publication, and the police ought to be put on "Brownie's" track.

THE obelisk of the Lateran is an Egyptian monument of red granite, nearly 150 feet in height, originally belonging to the Temple of the Sun at Heliopolis, removed thence to Alexandria by Constantine, and subsequently brought to Rome, where it now stands in the centre of the Piazza di San Giovanni.

It is reported that by the orders of the Governor of Formosa work is to be commenced immediately on the railway between Keelung and Wauwei. The line will be about 90 in length, but a considerable section of it is to be over very difficult country to work. The operations are to be carried out entirely by soldiers.

THE promoters of the Yokohama Dock Company were to have met on the 18th inst. to discuss the revision of the articles which have been drafted by a special committee. The proposed capital of three millions has been reduced to half a million. The application for the necessary charter was to have been made on Monday last, and if granted work will be commenced next March.

PROHIBITION, after a lengthy trial in Kansas (U.S.), seems a lamentable failure. The Kansas man who was a drinker simply makes affidavit that he has some complaint requiring whisky, and then gets it from a chemist. According to an exchange a Topeka chemist took 254 affidavits in a month, and they covered nearly every disease on record, down to one case of "distula in a horse."

THE supporters of the anti-mixed-residence movement have been busy in Kyoto of late, and as a consequence have managed to obtain 2,300 signatures to a petition against mixed residence which is to be presented to the Diet. As Kyoto has a population of about 230,000, the efforts of the anti-mixed-residence party in the opinion of the Kobe Chronicle, cannot be described as being very successful.

THE Shanghai Mercury is credibly informed that the two heads promised in the Sanguu massacre settlement are regarded by the "nice, polite" Westerns as a delicate compliment to the eminent naturalist who negotiated the matter, and who has distinguished himself in the kind of thing before in Borneo. The title of his new book, it is respectfully submitted, should be "The Head Hunters of Sanguu," not of Borneo.

THE China Association in Shanghai having telegraphed to the Hongkong branch to ask if the latter knew of any authority for the Sydney Bulletin's statement in the Hongkong Telegraph, as published in one of Reuter's telegrams (that Hongkong does not favour the change of a British dollar) the China Association in Hongkong replied by wire that they "knew nothing beyond Reuter's publication." They ought to know well enough that the British dollar is very strongly advocated, as the Governor said at the opening of the Council.

"BOYCOTTED" is yes, it does seem unfair that British tradesmen, artists, and others should be practically boycotted by "the powers that be" in this misgoverned colony, but when you pitched your tent here you must have known that almost all the government printing as well as other work is given out to aliens; that hosts of aliens are employed in the government offices and that the average Britisher is thoughtless of foreign flackery and bull-baiters. If you wait for life play you are bound to go down with gray hairs and sorrow to the grave.

Two Korean junk, one with 10 persons of both sexes and the other with 44 on board, arrived at Nagasaki on the 9th inst. under escort of officials from Aokata and Mitsukuni, where they had been respectively blown ashore in a gale encountered on their way to Japan from Saishu island. The local authorities took charge of them, and sent them back to Fusan by the Gensai-maru, which left that port on the 11th. Nine of the party, remarks the Hyogo News, remained behind to dispose of the junk and thirteen horses, which they brought with them.

It is all very well for a celebrity like Mrs. Langtry to lend her lovely features to an advertiser, but her own photograph testimonial to the fact that the uses such as Fusan, for example, such as Hongkong, there are many reasons against that method of making money. For instance, when a Chinese photographer, blissfully ignorant of any sense of incongruity or of anything else in art, exhibits the Governor's booming countenance next to a crowd of Formosan aborigines, the "man in the street" laughs.

EVERY ship that is named after a Gospel comes to grief, and the ship named after David Jones is no exception. The ship was wrecked on the 18th inst. with the date when the crew fell due and the vessel went down—generally with all hands.

Princess George, 1758; Royal George, 1752; Royal Charlotte, 1793; Queen Charlotte, 1800; King George, 1805; Prince of Wales, 1807; Queen Charlotte, 1818; Albert, troopship, 1843; Royal Adelaide, 1853; Victoria, 1857; Queen Victoria, 1857; Princess Alice (on Thames); Victoria (Thames), Canada, 1881; and the Victoria, off Tilpolt, 1893. And 'tis said.

In the Supreme Court this morning, on the application of Mr. H. E. Pollock, instructed by Mr. E. C. Fitts (Mr. V. H. Deacon's office) for the plaintiff, the Chief Justice granted a decree absolute, with costs, against property of A. G. Gordon & Co., Limited, mortgaged to the Union Insurance Company, the foreclosure proceedings having been instituted in May last.

RAILS for the line to connect Cebu port with the coal mines are expected to arrive at Manila in a few days, and there seems to be no reason now why the Cebu coal deposits (worked by Don Ramon Montano) should not speedily be developed into a highly prosperous concern, especially since the Government of the Philippines has taken strong protective measures.

FOLLOWING in the wake of the World's Fair, recently closed at Chicago, is the "Winter Show" about to be opened in San Francisco and which the enterprising citizens of Tacoma propose to follow up with an Inter-State Exposition in July, 1894, in which British Columbia has been invited to take part. The date of China's World's Fair has, however, not yet been fixed. Hi-Yah!

THE Post Office notification published in last evening's Telegraph regarding the hours to be observed during the Christmas holidays, and which stated that the "Telegraph Office" would be closed on the 24th and 25th instant, did not refer to the offices of the Cable Companies. These, as is well known, are kept open night and day from one year's end to the other, disregarding each and every holiday.

MR. AVONC, photographer, has courteously forwarded a copy of the photograph taken by him at the inauguration of the Bellini School. The view has as background not the (more or less) handsome school building, but a hideous mass of Chinese houses, with the inevitable pair of celestial "sicks" strung on a bamboo; and one row of houses has a heavy list to starboard, this imposing and memorable ceremony. However, the fact of the principal personages come out very well indeed—almost as well as if manipulated by a European photographer.

In a recent issue of Das Echo there is an account of a duel fought between two boys, twelve years of age, in the town of Ghent. It appears that the youthful fire-eaters quarrelled and decided to settle their difference in the coffee-and-pistol style so popular with our Continental friends. They accordingly repaired to a war house with their seconds and at the word "go" fired, one of them, named Temmermann, immediately falling dead with his adversary's bullet in his head, while the other escaped without a scratch, but, together with the seconds, was arrested shortly after the fray.

At a meeting of Victoria Lodge on Thursday evening Bro. S. L. Dury was installed as Worshipful Master of the Lodge for the coming year by Wor. Bro. the Hon. C. P. Chater, District Grand Master, who was attended by the District Grand Lodge Officers. The Worshipful Master afterwards invested his officers as follows:—S.W. Bro. W. Newton; J.W. Bro. E. C. Ellis; Treasurer, Bro. W. Kington; Secretary, Wor. Bro. A. O'D. Gourd; S.D. Bro. J. G. Wright; J.D. Bro. F. Lammert; D.C. Bro. J. Keddle; L.D. Bro. W. McK. Wood; Tyler, Bro. J. R. Grimble. On the closing of the Lodge the Brethren adjourned to a banquet, at which the usual loyal and masonic toasts were honoured.

THE ENGLISH FARMER: PAST AND PRESENT.

Farmer at the plough,
Wife milking cow,
Daughter spinning yarn,
Son threshing in the barn,
All happy to a charm.

1859.
Farmer gone to the show,
Daughter at the piano,
Madame gaily dressed in satin,
All the boys learning Latin,
With a mortgage on the farm.

1893.
Farmer cannot get a living,
Wife left without a shilling,
Daughter has to seek a place,
Son must scramble in the race;
"Free-trade" has beggared all.
—E. B. in the Manchester Courier.

THE following is a translation of a Chinese placard recently posted in Penang:—Of late the world has been in a disturbed state. We Chinese, who belong to a powerful nation, have left our country and our homes to come to this foreign land to earn our livelihood, and we consider ourselves as precious as people of other nationalities. But these lawless foreigners treat us like insects and ants. They send the police out at night, between the hours of one and five, to do injury to all of us Chinese who are met with on the road between those hours, and several tens of innocent men have been made the victims of this bad treatment within the past half month. It is a pity that we Chinese should be subjected to this kind of oppression. When a foreigner meets with his death by foul means there is redress for him, but none for a Chinaman! All persons should take this into consideration and not go abroad at night any more.

A CORRESPONDENT who signs himself "Shop," writes to the Indian Engineer:—

The use of words in the Money Market is really most extraordinary.
What is the world that they mean by "gold has appreciated"? I should not have thought that a mere metal like gold could appreciate anything or anybody; it certainly has not appreciated me for some time past or it would have disposed itself a little more freely towards my pocket.
I put the matter to a stock-broker, a friend of mine, asking him the meaning of the phrase "gold has appreciated." "It is an abbreviation," said he, "it means the price of gold is appreciated."
I went away repeating to myself "the price of gold is appreciated."

Now, I have noticed that people never appreciate the price of a thing unless the price is very low. If I'm buying a horse I always highly appreciate a low figure, and in trying to sell one I have always observed the seller appreciates reduction, discount—anything that makes the price less.
So, when I next saw my stock-broker I asked him what that price of gold was so low.
"Low! Low!" he said "why, man, the price of gold has never been so high in my life before. There's a pretty well a gold panic."
"Yet it is stated in the column headed Money Market that 'gold has appreciated' and you told me that meant 'the price of gold is appreciated.'"
"To be sure," said the stock-broker.
"It is quite evident to me," said I, "that you don't know what the word appreciate means."
"Indeed! Then perhaps you can tell me."
"Appreciate means to value highly; how can gold value a thing highly?"
"You put some gold on your head" said that insulting stock-broker, "you'll find it a good deal more highly valued; it may even reach the full value of the gold." With this he left me.
You see, Mr. Editor, how little thanks have they who go about trying to improve other people.

ACCORDING to the Inventor's Review Sir Henry Bessemer proposes to substitute aluminium tokens for bank notes. An aluminium coin the size of a rupee would weigh less than a silver shilling, and no other metal could be used on account of the greater weight. The impossibility of forging these coins is pointed out, but the Review does not enter into details.

A NATIVE telegram from Wuchang states that A. E. T. Tan Chai-shin, Governor of Hupeh, will start next month for Streckuan on secret mission of importance, by command of the Throne. It is reported that he goes to investigate the missionary outrages in that province. H. F. Yu Kéng, the expectant Taoist who conducted the Wuchang affair and the Sungpu negotiations, will accompany the Governor, being one of a suite of eight officials.

THE Forwards de Vinyas of the 7th inst. says: "The steamer Est arrived yesterday from Europe via port, and reports sight of a sailing-ship, kerosene-laden, abandoned near Fangad (an island between Luzon and Borneo). This is evidently the same vessel that the coasting steamer Butuan attempted to save. The Est at once proceeded to take the derelict in tow, finding her waterlogged but not likely to sink, nor apparently in any way difficult to manoeuvre. The Est's cables would not stand the strain, however, and after numerous attempts the sailing-ship had to be left to her fate. This must have been the German ship Carl Friedrich, which was stranded on the 14th November, and was abandoned, floated off and was ultimately picked up and towed into Labuan, as mentioned in these columns a few days ago. It seems strange that such a rich prize should 'go a-begging' so long.

The steamer Giang Ann, which arrived at Singapore on the 11th inst. from Batavia, brought the officers and men of the British barque Clan Grant, recently wrecked near Tegal. The Clan Grant was an iron barque of 1,555 tons, built in 1878 at Glasgow, and owned by a firm of that port. She left Amoy recently on a voyage to New York with a full cargo of tea, and was making a fair passage until she got into rough weather in the China Sea. Eventually the vessel struck on a reef, but did not founder. The crew stood by the ship, which floated in about eight hours. The weather continued to be so rough that the vessel, disabled from the effects of running aground and the reef, drifted in the direction of Batavia, and was last to be abandoned in a sinking condition off Tegal. The crew left the ship on the 1st instant. Soon after, says the Strait Times, the whole of the ship's crew were safely picked up by the Dutch steamer Sorabaya and taken to Batavia. While at Batavia, the crew were very hospitably treated by the residents, and a sum of $1,370 was distributed among the shipwrecked men, the money being drawn from the Sailors' Relief Fund at that port. A Court of Inquiry into the loss of the vessel was instituted in Singapore and resulted in the exoneration of Capt. Treleven and officers. The crew comprised two mates, a carpenter, four apprentices and twelve seamen.

AMONGST the Spanish troops engaged in recent hostilities in Morocco is a soldier named Glola, who has had a very remarkable career. Spanish journals relate that a few years ago Glola was sentenced to death at Cadix for having committed a brutal murder while engaged in highway robbery. In due course the criminal was led to the scaffold, but owing to some blundering on the part of the hangman, who appears to have been intoxicated at the time, the doomed man, although his neck and throat were horribly lacerated, was not killed outright. Preparations were then made for another attempt to finish the horrible business, but the spectators grew so excited, and the executioners so terrified, that the execution was deferred. The magistrate, who appears to have been only too glad of an excuse to end the disgusting scene, stopped the execution and in the course of a few hours the Government commuted Glola's sentence to one of hard labour for life. He was therefore deported to Mellilla, where he was a galley-slave until the recent outbreak of war with the Moors, when he was sent to the front and has distinguished himself by his pluck and endurance to such an extent as to merit special mention in official reports of the engagements with the Rif tribes. Indeed, so outstanding has been his gallantry that several Spanish papers have taken up his case, harked back to the memorable and revolting scene on the execution ground at Cadix, and assert that the convict should now have his sentence remitted altogether at the close of the war.

THE recently achieved Dutch victories in Aceh have resulted in what seems to be a general move towards submission among the hostile tribes; at least in the opinion of a Straits contemporary a remarkable turn in the course of the war has taken place. This long-protracted war, in the mode of action adopted by the Dutch, has been described by that term; arose from the anarchical condition of the country, which led the Dutch Government to put and to its independence, in the interest of the security of their possessions in the neighbourhood. "he war of conquest, which began in March 1873, has been checked by the warlike spirit of the people, the ill-nature of the country, and the unhealthiness of the climate. To overcome these hindrances cost so much blood and treasure that the Netherlands authorities resented the military operations, and tried to gain head by conciliation aided by the pressure of the blockade. Years of this policy brought no marked improvement in the situation, the more especially from the part of the "Dionese" or priests working upon the fanaticism of the people. According to our contemporary some months ago dissections arose among the "rebels" on account of the priestly party going to excessive lengths in their exertions for funds to carry on the war. The Netherlands officials took advantage of the discord to support the one party against the priest. The breach widened with the result that the Dutch and other influential chiefs fell away, joined the Dutch, and turned against the native countrymen. With the aid of these auxiliaries, the work of conquest was resumed and the Dutch and their allies soon won advantage after advantage. Amangkurat, the stronghold of the priestly party, was captured on the 2nd instant, and for the first time since 1873, the subjugation of Aceh looks possible in the near future.
